When you met this man in his later years in life you met a distinguished weathered hard working man. Wick had the honest look on his face to match his personality and always with a sense of humor. The love for his family was never in question along with the love of him serving his country. Theres a special place in heaven for those of the greatest generation that has ever lived and made America what it is today. As Wick joins many before him he will carry his dignity and remembrance of his life to share with all. Proud to have known you Wick and may you Rest In Peace.
