Awww, the sweet memories. I went to school with Ricky, and rode the school bus with him. We would talk and laugh as we rode home on the bus. Then, when it came time, Ricky and Mike would get off the bus at their street, which was a couple of streets before mine. But the laughter, and innocent flirting (typical of highschoolers back in the early 1980's) was so much fun. I think of those days often, and truly have had loving memories over the years. To the family of Ricky, he was a sweetheart of a guy. Rest assured that his pain and suffering is no more, and he keeps an eye on you all, from a place of Glory, that we can only imagine. I pray that Jesus wraps his loving arms around each of you, and comforts you in your loss. Love, Kelly (Gunn) Henson
