I can't believe that it has been 5 years. So much has happened and I wish I could just call you and tell you all about it. I hope heaven is everything you hoped and wished for. Every day it gets harder to think that you are gone but I am grateful to know you are in peace from now on. These past 9 months have been really hard but I just want you to know that I love you beyond words and that I really am trying to keep living every day to the fullest because I know I am worth so much more than feeling purposeless. I hope that you see that I am trying and that I love and miss you so much. I will continue to pray daily and move forward with my faith more and more every day. Thank you for being the best mom out there and just know that everyone misses you:)I love you very much, Your daughter Jacqi:)

Dearest Amanda, I need to Thank You Amanda. You and I have been friends for almost 20 years. Thru out those 20 years not once did i ever feel uncomfortable around you or feel like i had to hide my crazy in fear of rejection or being judged. We were just too much alike. I loved that We could be ourselves around each other without judgement, rules or worry about embarrassing each other. You was always a true friend to me as i was always a true friend to you. We helped each other get thru some of the toughest times in our lives. You was one of dreads only female friends that i actually liked and got along with...lol. Well, you and janice. Lol. When i heard the news of your passing my jaw just dropped. I immediately went into denial saying no way someones got their information wrong somewhere down the line. So i immediately called your cell phone. No Answer. It wasnt until i heard it from an honest trustful source that i then believed you was gone. Right away i started trying to figure out what happened to you. What could have caused you to go the way that you did so quickly. Unfortunately we hadnt spoken in a few months because you was to focused on working on you and TJ and keeping your family together that you kind of tuned everyone else out. We wpuld pass a few hello, i love and miss your face here and there but we never really got into deep conversation. I regret that now. If we would have talked more maybe j would have known mre than i did. Anyways i dont want to continue rambling. Ill talk to you again in my prayers. I love and miss your face Amanda?? I hope heaven is all y pop u ever hoped amd dreamed it would be! Love you always and forever.

Amanda, you were such a kind and beautiful person. You touched my heart in so many ways. You taught me to love myself and never give up. I'm so sad you are gone so soon. The time we have known each other was amazing and I am so blessed to have met you. May you rest easy and God watch over your beautiful family. I'll never say goodbye, but I will see you again one day. Thank you for all you've done. I miss you and love you.
