When my father called me at 5:10 am on November 24th. I did not think anything of it until I answered the phone and heard my father crying historically. I did not want to cry so that he could calm down a little bit. I asked him what was wrong and he just kept crying and crying. The first thing that came to mind was grandma ma. But then he said " Vanessa its Chris". I was like "what do mean? Whats going on". He said "he's gone" . Man primo. My heart dropped. I fell to the floor in disbelief hoping that this is just a terrible dream and that I will soon wake up and everything would be back to normal. At the same time I literally had a flasback of our childhood all the way up until our last txt message sent to each other. Which was four days before I received the phone call. I know that you are having a blast right now with Ati and tony. I will always have you guys in my heart. I love you, I love you primo. See you later

Chris you will truly be missed. I will always remember you and your free spirit. You were and always will be a one of a kind. You had a heart bigger than all outdoors. You lived your life to the fullest for you and your family. I'll miss hearing you pull up and holla Mamma want to burn. You maybe gone in present but your spirit will always remain. Love you and miss you more and more everyday. R.I.P Chico. P.s. my daughter says she never got that game of basketball with you so she said she is going to play it for you LOL.
