Wes, I do not know how to start this because there are so many things I can say. You are much more than my best friend, you are a part of my heart. We have been together through the highest of highs and the lowest of lows. We have laughed so hard we have almost wet our britches and cried with each other until our hearts ached. Through it all you were there for each other. Even when you would "tell it like it is" and I didn't want to hear it. You always said we were bad for each other because what you didn't think of, I did. Our friendship has been tried and tested through the years, yet it lasted. The Lord has blessed me with this special gift of your friendship and your love. Someone once told me that a true friend is one mind with two bodies. I love and miss you Wes and you will always be in my heart.

My dear, dear friend Wes, I can hardly believe you are gone. As I sit here writing this memory of you, I am overcome, still with grief that I can no longer chat with you, or see your name in my email etc, or thank you for your loving parcel and cards you recently sent, but I prayed and asked God to thank you for me. I loved you dearly, you were a wonderful friend, I will miss you so very, very much, my friend. I know that when I get to heaven, I will wrap you in my arms and tell you how much I loved you and valued your friendship once again. Soon, my tears of sorrow will turn to tears of joy at the memories I have of you, but right now, I can only cry tears of grief. Your children, grand children, family and friends lives were so much richer with you in it and the impact your love has given us will never ever diminish. Love, Janice Muise, your Canadian friend in life and death, till we meet again ...
