Hello Rik, I was so very sorry to hear from Peggy about your father's death. I know from Angie that you have patiently cared for him for many years. When I talked to Peg she was telling me different things you did to help him. Always making sure his needs were taken care of. You had told me (the day we were kite-flying in Fort Wayne with Zachary) how difficult it was at times. That a lot of the time your Father didn't show much appreciation. When that is the case, the "reward" is in yourself for your own actions, as well as the recognition of others for what you do. Also in your faith, a big part of your life. Please know you are in my thoughts, Debi
