Daddy or Dad is how I knew him. I was the one my sister's or Mom would always send out to help him to work on cars, go to lodge meetings, or back up a travel trailer into a camping spot. They would always say that he wouldn't yell at me because I was the baby. As long as I can remember, he called me Boo. He gave me this nickname early in life, from what I hear, around age three or four after singing the song "Me and You and a Dog Named Boo". Yes I know... It still sticks today and he called me that until the last time I spoke to him. Anyone I would meet that knew him, personally or professionally, would always tell me great things about him. Everyone seemed to have had a story or two. Some they could share and would. I treasure all of those stories and the care that people felt for my Dad. I still run into some technicians or team leaders at work that remember him and every one of them have great respect for him. Some or most he taught through Cincinnati Bell splicing school. He will be greatly missed by many, including me! Until we meet again, Dad! Love you always, Boo!

My pawpaw for 34 years. I'm so glad you loved us grandkids so much! Every event you made it to and watching us grow. Spoiling us the best you can but the best one was my graduation seeing you watch me accomplish 18 hard years of schooling. You sat right in the back towards where we walked in and you were the first person I seen when I walked in. I'm so glad you met the great grand kids. I'm glad they remember you and got to visit you in Florida cause that was our best vacation beach and seeing you for a week. I remember you leading the band at the circus and watching you come out and dance while they played was my favorite memory of you! I miss you so much and I hope to see you soon up in heaven. Love always Linds.

Big Jim or Big Ike is what everyone referred to my Dad as. All we had to say was I'm Ike's daughter and they knew exactly who we were. He was the best....one of a kind; never knew a stranger; and always willing to help whoever needed it. Kind soul and as he grew older, much more patient man than when we were kiddos...but his girls knew he loved us no matter what. I miss him dearly, I miss talking to him as he always gave the best advice when this daughter needed it. He never judged, he just listened. I touched base with him every few days for years and it's killing me not to dial his number and hear his voice. Love you with all my heart and miss you terribly dad. love Barbara your forever peanut ❤️
