Joe's parents immigrated to Michigan from Ireland near the turn of the century and settled in Dearborn, Michigan. As an adolescent, Joe was a bit of a father and he joined the Coast Guard and found himself stationed in Portland, Maine where he met the love of his life and future wife, Peggy Murphy, a Coast Guard. They soon were married and started a family together. While working two jobs and going to school at night and his family growing quickly which he inherited from his father, sales was the best direction for him. His new career began selling driveways and parking lots for a small paving company with knowledge, and the drive to open his own paving company. With a small loan from a bank and his father, Joe started J. Boyle, Inc. and his passion in Michigan securing high profile jobs such as Ford Motor Company corporate headquarters, Fairlane Towne Center, and countless Kmart stores and paving contractor, and he began doing both with great success.

After years of hard work he grew one company into several, in multiple states, he decided that he liked the concept of owning these commercial investments to acquire, hold, and manage investment grade real estate properties; and it wasn't long before quite an impressive portfolio was created. Joe made himself respected by everyone that did business with him.

Joe retired to Florida full-time with his wife Peggy with whom he shared many hobbies such as boating, golf, and tennis. Boating was Joe's longest and most enjoyable traveling to many amazing locations with friends and family. Joseph Martin Boyle was a great man, father, husband, and business partner who will be missed.

Joseph is preceded in passing by his parents and sister Margie.

Joseph leaves his loving memory with his survivors: loving wife Peggy Boyle, daughters Karen, Kathleen, and Tracy, sons Michael, and Joseph and Elizabeth.

Joseph's family entrusted Fort Myers Memorial Gardens with caring for his final arrangements. There will be a memorial service held at a later date.

Joseph's family asks that all donations in honor of him are to be made to St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital.
