I was among the many friends, acquaintances, and guests that Sherry welcomed into her home for visits. The door was always open! Lively conversations were engaged in and topics of discussion included books, pictures, family, work, relationships, food, camping, hunting and wildlife, and many others of significance...and sometimes, some of INsignificance. Sherry was very easy to talk to and there was always a smile in her voice. She was the perfect wife to my very good friend, her husband, Jerry. They were a team! I will look fondly on my memories of Sherry and offer my most heartfelt condolences to Jerry and her sons. Our loss is Heaven's gain.
